The best performance seen in Carson for some years was seen at the Opera House last night in the military drama, Shenandoah. The Company is first-class, and all the acting is of a higher order than Carson theater goers are accustomed to. If Piper will always bring shows of equal merit, he will never have a poor house.

The Evening News of Sacramento, Wells Drury's paper, comes to the APPEAL this morning in an enlarged form, and with its head extended by two sideboards the notice "Four months old to-day." It is neat in typographical appearance and full of newsy topics, while its advertising columns are well filled and give the paper a general air of prosperity.

Baron Fava has reached Rome and held a private conference with Premier Rudini on the New Orleans matter. Is Mr. Rudini still interested in that affair? People in this country have forgotten all about it. They had some curiosity at first to see how far Rudini would venture to go. They have found out, and it will be hard to attract their attention to the subject again.

AMERICAN VS. ENGLISH STEEL.

How the Home Article was Introduced on the Comstock

The Enterprise publishes the following:

Many years ago nearly all the blacksmiths and mining engineers on the Comstock were foreign born, and had been educated in foreign lands. They knew how to make tools of English steel, and they knew nothing about American steel. They knew nothing about the difference in tempering and cared nothing for it. They wanted Jessup steel or none.

An agent of the Black Diamond Steel Manufacturing Co. came to the lode to introduce American steel, and he was met by the prejudice, predisposition and education above set forth.

He despaired of his mission until he met Louis Wardle, who took specimens of his steel and promised to try it.

Louis gave an octagonal bar to the Crown Point mine blacksmith and asked him to make a drill out of it.

"Can't do it, American steel. Might use it as a cheese investigator. Going through porphyry anyhow," responded the swarthy Vulcan.

Mr. Wardle—Make a drill out of it and mark it on every plain side with a cross, and charge the expense to me.

A drill was made of the bar, and it came up the first day split and broken.

Mr. Wardle then went to the same blacksmith and gave him another bar of American steel, and gave him the directions to temper it. A drill was made of it marked as before, and an account was kept of its work. It was used in common with drills made of English steel, and it did not show up for repairs for two weeks. The first order given the Black Diamond Co. was for five tons, and not a pound of English steel has been used in Crown Point since.

What Is a Blush?

A doctor was asked this question by a young lady, and he answered thus: "A blush is a temporary erythema and calorific effluence of physiognomy actuated by the preëxistence of the censorium when in a predicament of unequilibrium from a sense of shame, anger or other cause, eventuating in a paresis of the vaso motor nervous filaments of the facial capillaries, whereby being divested of their elasticity, they are suffused with radiant, acrated, compound nutritive circulating liquid, emanating from an intimidated præcordial.

Not Diphtheria.

It is now stated on good medical authority that Joe Kilday did not die of diphtheria, but quinsy, which is often confounded with the former disease. The APPEAL hopes its exchanges will be as ready to correct the statement as they were to make it.

An Excellent Horse.

Triumph, by Prompter, a splendid looking colt owned by John P. Sweeney, will stand for the season in the valley. He is of fast trotting stock, and a colt from him is worth $500 the day it is foaled.

"The Heir of Almohaza," a story by Edward Munson in the Argonaut of April 27th, is as clever as many of Bret Harte's early sketches. The "heir" is a half-breed Indian, who is picked up by a rascally Yankee and his partner, a Mexican "professor," and is put forth by them as the claimant of an enormous grant of land in Arizona. His splendor on his arrival and the gradual steps by which he sinks through the social scale are described in a happy combination of the humorous and the pathetic.

Miller & Co. have a carload of furniture on hand, which they will sell for 30 days cheaper than ever sold in Carson. a175t

The Roseburg, Or., Plaindealer says: The lynching of Rose and Edwards at Oysterville seems to have given general satisfaction to the people of that region. So much so, that it is impossible for the authorities to find any persons that participated in the killing of the murderers.

They Will Fight.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Parson Davies, for Jim Hall, and George R. Clark for Bob Fitzsimmons signed articles of agreement for a fight to a finish, with four ounce gloves, Queensberry rules, for a purse of $12,000 to take place at St. Paul or Minneapolis on July 22d, the winner to get $11,000, the loser $1,000, both contestants agreeing to weigh not over 156 pounds each.
